

Kentucky Section–AIPG

What AIPG does ...

Professional Certification. Certifies geologists based on their competence, integrity and ethics.

Lobbying. Presents testimony and position papers to federal and state legislators and agencies on matters affecting geologists and geologists' employment opportunities.

Ombudsman. Intervenes with regulatory boards and agencies on behalf of individual geologists, at the geologist's request.

Publications. Publishes a monthly magazine, The Professional Geologist, and a variety of publications for both the profession and the general public.

Insurance. Provides access to liability insurance for errors and omissions, designed specifically for geologists, and a full line of health, life and accident insurance.

International Comity. Through agreements with professional societies in other countries, provides access for its Members to professional registration, certification, or chartered status in those countries.

*As defined by the American Geological Institute, a geological science is any of the subdisciplinary specialties that are part of the science of geology, e.g., geophysics, geochemistry, paleontology, petrology, etc.

Access to Web Pages. The membership in the local section entitles members to join the web committee and also receive mention in both the “specialty” and the “alphabetical” sections of the Kentucky AIPG web page. The Kentucky Section web site is found at:

and also carries links to the web sites of geological interest. A “List serve” reference is on the site as well, allowing the geologist to receive e-mail on topics of interest in geology. The list-service is an automatic e-mail list and is provided by the Kentucky Geological Survey.

Application for Membership. To obtain membership application forms, in PDF format (requires Acrobat Reader, free from Adobe), visit the AIPG web site at aipg.org. All forms must be printed out and mailed in. The application form must be notarized.

Membership entitles the geologist to “members-only” access to the national web site shown below.
